Introduction

This document outlines the latest updates to the CTIS public Clinical Trials website. With regards to the secure Sponsor and Authority workspaces, the latest version of reference (reference release notes) can be found here.

Functional and user interface improvements

In this release of the CTIS public website, improvements have been made for:

- The country search in the Public Portal now displays results in the correct alphabetical order based on the selected language.
- Public users can now reliably open and view safety notification details without display or positioning issues.
- The Support page has been updated to make it easier for users to find relevant training materials and information.

Detailed improvements

A. User interface changes

Fixed an issue where, in the Public Portal advanced search by Location (Country), certain countries were not offered sorted alphabetically in some language versions due to the handling of Latin characters. Countries are now properly ordered according to the selected language. [ADO 286876] [PRB0042760]

Fixed an issue where public users were unable to view the details of a safety notification in the Public Portal, as the "View Details" pop-up was incorrectly displayed outside the visible area of the page. The pop-up is now correctly positioned, allowing users to view the notification details without adjusting the zoom level. [ADO 286884] [PRB0042574]

An improvement has been implemented to update the 'Support' page of the CTIS website to improve clarity and provide updated links to available training materials and newsletters.
